

The Suzie Cappa Art Center is a division of Black Hills Works which provides supports to adults with disabilities. It is a non-profit studio and gallery where artists create, exhibit and sell their work.

They also have opportunities to participate in music, theatre, and dance. It offers work space, materials and educational sessions facilitated by professional artists, volunteers and BHW employees. The Suzie Cappa Art Center is a place where creativity flourishes for both artists and visitors alike.

More than 100 artists with ALL abilities come to the Suzie Cappa Art Center to be inspired and create amazing pieces of art. Artists explore their style, learn needed skills, and develop artistically. Artistic freedom is encouraged and skills enhanced within this supportive atmosphere. In doing so, the artists are empowered to share their voice and vision.

The Suzie Cappa Art Center was established in memory of Suzie Cappa, who pursued her passion for art while receiving services from Black Hills Works. Each year, we honor her memory by spotlighting an Artist of the Year.
